

10 Ways to Add Numbers to Your Resume

Colleen Paulson

You want your resume to stand out, but you aren't sure how to do it.

For me, showing numbers is a great way to demonstrate results and show context.

Here are 10
questions to ask yourself to get started:

How large ($$$) is your division?

How many projects did you
lead?

How much
savings did you
deliver?

How many clients
did you manage?

What is the size
($$) of your project?

How much (%) did
you improve
productivity?

What is the annual revenue of
your company?

How many people
report to you (direct/indirect)?

How many people
are you leading on
your project?

How much
revenue is associated with your product?

Put it all together.

You don't need a fancy template to stand out.

Use numbers as a way to add context and draw
the reader in.
